

"Sexy" Season a Success!

25 May 2009

With the final performance of "Last of the Red Hot Lovers" behind us, ACT celebrates its most successful season ever. ACT VIII, our so-called "sexy season", brought in consistently large audiences and critical acclaim. "Not Now, Darling" a British sex farce, showed our ability to master this most difficult of theatre genres. "Bedtime Stories" a clever ensemble piece, went to the WODL Festival, where it picked up several awards, including Best Ensemble. "Red Hot Lovers" featured remarkable performances in a 1970 period piece.

We are now embarking on our next themed season, our "Season of Death", wherein we take a lighthearted look at God's biggest practical joke. Auditions start June 14th for the first show of ACT IX, "The Cemetery Club" by Ivan Menchell and directed by Jeff Rogers. See our Auditions page for details. "The Cemetery Club" opens on October, 2009. February 2010 will see the opening of "Dearly Departed" by David Bottrell & Jessie Jones and directed by Barbara Warnock. Our final show in May of 2010 is "Murdered to Death" by Peter Gordon and directed by Ron Sawyer.

In the meantime, we continue to create our own brand of murder mysteries for the enjoyment of local clubs. "Elder Hostile Intentions: The Nursing Home Mystery" will debut at the Aylmer Legion in September.
